GAMES

Can I play on a computer?

As long as your computer has a DVD player, you can play Snap TV's games on it. In fact, you can play on any device that supports DVD play.

When I insert the game into my DVD player, it does not load or I receive an error message.

Snap TV's games are created according to current DVD specifications. Certain players do not adhere to current industry standard DVD specifications, and therefore may not be compatible with Snap TV's game features. If you are experiencing loading problems or error messages, please try playing the game on another DVD player.

My DVD player sometimes takes a few seconds to respond.

Snap TV's games will perform at varying speeds dependent upon your DVD player make and model. Many older DVD players do not have some of the basic functionality that is standard on current DVD players. In some cases, these DVD players may not be able to fully handle the functionality that is programmed into Snap TV's games. If this is the case, try playing the game on another player.

My DVD player froze when I played.

Eject the DVD and turn off the power to the DVD Player. Reinsert the DVD and try again. If the problem persists, try another DVD player.

What happens when I press stop or turn off the DVD player?

DVD players have a short memory. If you turn them off or take out the disc during a game, the DVD player will automatically erase its stored data. That means that if you were in the middle of a game and ejected the disc, the score would be lost and you'd have to start again.

Does Snap TV have any more DVD games for kids?

DVD games offer a new, safe place where kids can learn, explore and have fun. Snap TV has an entire line of kid-friendly, easy to play DVD games with new titles releasing on a regular basis. For a complete list of Snap TV games, please visit us online at snaptvgames.com.

ATTENTION: Do not press STOP during the game or your game may be lost.
